ever occurred at La Grange, on the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad, at an early hour on Saturday. A whole block, containing five buildings, including Harwood's saddlery establishment, Mahan's dwelling and a drug store, in which the Adams Express office was kept. Fortunately the postoffice had been removed across the street a few days before, else it had been destroyed with the other buildings. The amount of the loss, which is heavy, is not known.

FIRE AT MEMPHIS. War—Chicago, Jan. 25.—A fire at Memphis, Wis., on Monday night, destroyed the house of Wm. Costigan, Post master of that Village, and four of his children, aged from four to ten years, perished in the flames.

per. When doing what is right, the heart is easy and becomes better every day, but when practicing deceit, the mind labors and every day gets worse.

It is now certain that private letters have been received from Lincoln urging a truce to confederation and to congress, and it is stated that he indicated the Border State resolutions as a reasonable basis of a truce. — Assurance even that this information is reliable.

Soon after the electoral vote shall be counted in the presence of Congress, on the second Wednesday of February, he [Lincoln] will appear publicly with his views on the pending crisis. He heretofore is not yet proper advance of official information of the declaration of his action for him to take a prominent part in the direction of political affairs.

and the fulfillment of the beneficent purposes intended for it by Providence; he is the best patriot and friend of his race who does the most to rescue him from a calamity that may be never there if we suppress it.

the colored population became greatly incensed. In the wake of the riot, a mob would visit their homes, so there was no such demonstration.

It is said that Mayor Wrightman was warned that an organized attack, by a large force, would have been made on Temple from the outside, had the riotous ransacking in the evening, he therefore closed the hall, and decided that it should not be reopened.

A large crowd were gathered about the hall during the afternoon, and the streets were required to keep the street clear for vehicles. The riotous demonstration is, however, at an end.
